Feltham history Group 'June meeting'

The Chairman opened the June meeting of the history group reminding members that it was the last before the summer recess but reminded all of the activities planned for the Summer months and requested that all make effort to attend.

Under Items of interest there was notification the Feltham Arts 'festival' which was a worthwhile event to attend.

The Chairman continued of a new home for Hounslow Local Studies; this was due the council taking back 'in house' the Library Service. It was noted that the new venue was advantageous for the history group in as much it was on our door step, i.e. Feltham Library.

Concern was expressed on the plans for Hounslow Heath; members were made aware of a fantastical scheme which would see the heath out of bounds for many Members were alerted to an exhibition regarding London's Lost Canals which is planned from September 26th 2017 until April 2018. London Canal Museum will be holding a new exhibition uncovering the history of London's Lost Canals. (See website))

Under forthcoming events the members were made aware of a Summer Walks programme the first being named Heath Walk which will take in the delights of the Crane River and viewing the various mill workings. This is scheduled for 2 pm @ Baber Bridge Sunday 25th June. The second is called Feltham Brook Walk and will be a 'revel route' along the parish boundary with Hanworth entitled Feltham Brook Walk. This again 2pm @ Airman Gate Sunday 30th July

We are to display at St Dunstan's Church on Saturday 1st July 11-4pm. there will be a tour of the graveyard and a talk on the church with 'Cream Tea' in the garden.

The evening concluded with a 'short talk' on Hanworth by Angela

The meeting closed at 9-22 with the Chairman urging members to make every effort to attend the various functions.
